What we did |

PRH, the world's largest general-interest paperback publisher, with several independently managed subsidiaries worldwide, commissioned WDL to design and develop the Frating office in Colchester. The project included bespoke joinery and furniture, supplied and installed throughout, with a clear goal: a smarter, more efficient workplace that consolidates the existing footprint. Two floors, around 3,000 sqm, were meticulously planned to meet all client and departmental requirements, delivered on time and under budget, with careful attention to detail in every element of the interior.
